Town Centre Regeneration Programme
Queensway and The Pavement
Crawley Borough Council and partners are working together to extend the Queens Square regeneration scheme along Queensway, The Pavement and Kingsgate. This is phase two of town centre regeneration work as highlighted in the council’s town centre regeneration programme.

It will cost £2.2m to improve the public space in the 5,500 m² area; the work will also improve links between the soon-to-be regenerated Queens Square and other key town centre sites including Central Sussex College and Memorial Gardens. Work is also expected to act as a further catalyst for wider regeneration and investment across the town centre.

The final design will need to reflect the high quality improvements in Queens Square but the council and its partners are keen to hear views on layout, how the space is currently used and how people would like to use it.
Design objectives

- Cohesive design linking with Queens Square improvements
- Improved connectivity between Memorial Gardens and Queensway
- Attractive open space with particular focus on pedestrians and cyclists
- High quality, low maintenance paving
- Flat, accessible and attractive space for potential location of future market
- Increased litter bins
- Attractive lighting for aesthetic and safety purposes
- Formal and informal seating
- Cycle racks
- Retained disabled parking near Parkside
- Good vehicular access to and from Parkside car park.
Existing Queensway and The Pavement

Large planters restrict the use and adaptability.

Fully grown trees restrict visibility of shop fronts.

Lighting is poor and street furniture clutters The Pavement.

The ring of cycle stands does not provide an adequate number of spaces due to its configuration and existing disabled parking spaces do not meet current standards.

A hedgerow blocks views to Memorial Gardens, the taxi rank is under used and cars dominate the space.
Queensway and The Pavement concept design
Crawley Borough Council and Partners want to hear your views on the latest improvements to the town centre. Although the overall design needs to be in line with regeneration work in Queens Square, we are keen to know what our stakeholders think of the provision of seating, cycle racks including their style and quantity, changes at the entrance to Memorial Gardens, parking, the potential to use part of the space as a location for a future market, and how they think the changes will affect them.
